FROM THE PRESIDENT'S DESK

Dear friends,
At the outset , we m o u r n f u l l y remember our PP M. Paul Anand who left for his heavenly abode , peacefully amidst his family in the States We pray that May the Lord rest his soul in peace as we convey our sympathies to his wife Raj and his daughters.

As we enter December, the countdown for the biggest project of the year DISCON 12 - a celebration of our District Governor and a moment of pride for RCBN after about 3 decades begins. We have crossed 700 registrations and our drive to seek delegates, sponsors and speakers has intensified with a tense but confident DISCON chairman Vijay Lazarus ably keeping the team on its feet. RCBN members are getting there and the appeal continues for your cent per cent participation. A celebration at home is never complete with even a single family member missing. I have taken it upon myself to have you involved in this joyous moment. Hence, my repeated reminders, though you are as much a family member as any other and there should be no need to remind you to not only register but also to attend with your spouse.

Though DISCON is our major project of the year, other projects are receiving due attention. A successful medical camp was arranged at the foothills of Matheran, and simultaneously some members roughed their way to the Adivasi Wadi for assessment and finalisation of the solar/water projects. The Worli Welfare Centre is buzzing and a full report on its activities and inauguration of computer academy is carried elsewhere in this issue.

AG Gul Kripalani (also Hon consul general, PP IMC & member of RC Bombay besides being a leader of a long list of institutions) addressed our club on Corporate Social Responsibility. This topic and my personal assessment and involvement of our activities got me thinking of our contribution to the society. As I deliberate more and interact with you in the coming months, I would like to goad you to an introspection asking yourself -

"Am I satisfied with myself as being a good Rotarian?"
Put in other words, similar questions that you may want to ask of yourself

"What is my contribution to the society?";
Put in other words, how is Rotary as an institution helping me to channelise my charitable intentions.

"What are my intentions as a Rotary member?"
Put in other words, am I delivering

"Am I happy with myself with my role in Rotary?"

"What do I expect from Rotary or what does Rotary expect of me?"

"Have I made contributions in the form of my time, effort, concern, thoughts or funds?"

It will be nice if each one of us pens down self-observations and the new awakening may help us to take a relook at our involvement in line with the Rotary Principles.

I personally want to thank Usha for hosting us for the month as we hand over the baton to our ever popular Rasilaben. Thank you to Jumana and Saifuddin for the wonderful team of Qawwals for the Nawabi Night, to our sponsors Leela, Satya and Abbas Lehry for the Qawali night. A special thank you to Vipinbhai for helping us make free computer academy a reality along with assistance from PP Satya and Shishir. My sincere appreciation of Nick, Ashutosh, Dr. Sonal & Dr. Rajen, Darshana & Mahendrabhai -the people behind the medical camp who were ably supported & encouraged by Maitreyee & Mandar , Asim, Firoz, Zain, Baldev and the energetic Abbas Arsiwalla.

As I sign off – a though to ponder about

"A SINGLE GENEROSITY ENLARGES THE WORLD- Mary Anne Radmacher"

Yours in Rotary-
Ajeet

Images from the Inauguration of the Computer Training Centre at Worli Welfare Centre at the hands of Shri Milind Deora, Minister of State for Communications & I.T., G.O.I on 14th November 2011 and an update on Worli Welfare Centre activities

The Computer academy in association with Bhavan's Gandhi Institute was formally inaugurated on children's day with a large turnout of prospective students, our ever supportive members, BDD chawl residents, invited guests and the chief guests – Hon'able Mr. Milind Deora, Minister of State for Communications and I.T., Government of India, Mr. Sachin Bhau Ahir - Minister of State for Housing, Environment and Development and our own DG Vijay Jalan. A well-received function by the residents renewed the Rotary credibility and our commitment to provide service to the community.

Our current total activity at Worli Welfare Centre ("WWC") spanning computer classes, sewing, mehendi, beautician courses did not exceed 150 beneficiaries per year. 35% of the number was for computer classes which needed to be improved upon by enhancing the quality of education, faculty and choice of courses offered. The new facility shall hopefully benefit several people in addition to all other activities which shall remain uninterrupted. Despite the concerns of limited space left after accommodating computer academy, we have at hand new and increased activities than ever before.

Bhavan's Gandhi Institute is one of the largest NGOs in the world, with the objective to computer educate youth from weaker sections of society for better job opportunities and to enable them to achieve economic empowerment. Their capital expenditure at our WWC is to the tune of Rs. 7,60,000 and their recurring annual expense is projected to be Rs. 5,30,000. Our capital cost of the project is limited to Rs. 1,00,000 and an increase in deposit for electricity. Improvement of the area outside the shed was also undertaken with the funds donated by PP Vipin Shah. Courses offered include Accounts Assistant, Office Assistant, DTP, Hardware Maintenance & Assembling and course for senior citizen. Each of these courses which are offered free of charge, have a market value ranging from Rs. 8,000 to Rs. 15,000. The certification which is recognised shall be co-signed by BGI and RCBN.

As stated above, due to the generous contribution made in memory of Late PREMLATA Vipin Shah, we have been able to fund the civil work to be undertaken by RCBN for computer academy including taking possession and tiling the open area outside the centre. This open area is to be fenced, lighted with fans being provided and we are hopeful of being able to use for open air but tree shaded classes and as a reading area. The running cost of the centre is likely to remain about the same as current expenditure with adjustment of some of our staff being shifted to the account of Gandhi institute. A five member team comprising of PP Vipin shah, the Current President, Incoming presidents Abbas & Mahendra and Honorary Secretary Asim shall oversee computer academy activities.

Introduction to the visiting Ministers has reestablished our contact and we were given hopes of ratification of the lease agreement which shall continue to be taken up by PP Suresh Gandhi.

The first batch of English classes as arranged by Rtn. Dinaz Delvadavala with The Times group shall commence on 8 Dec and we shall hopefully have 3 batches a day covering 75 students. The classes offered to working members of the BDD community is to help them learn conversational English which shall substantially increase their career prospects and confidence.

The Bank aided self-employed women programme has crystallised under the leadership of Rtn'anne Hemangini Desai. The first batch of 10 ladies will be able to avail of the bank loans by the end of this month with initial financial assistance from Hemangini.

Rtn. Mandar Tamhe is heading his plans for reading room and library. The distribution of books as done on the previous two occasions shall be continued. The existing computer room shall be made available to students to study in the late evenings and if the numbers are large outside open area should also be used.

Images from the Medical Camp in Matheran on 20th November 2011

A medical camp was organized on the foothills of Matheran for the locals staying in the nearby Adivasi wadis. with nearly 100 patients having specific complaints covering the areas of Gynecology, Paediatrics, Eye and General Health. The camp was conducted in the Adivasi resident school. We had our own doctors including Rtn. Rajendra Agrawal and Rtn'anne Sonal Agrwal rendering yeoman service to the patients free of charge. The doctors were arranged by Rtn. Quresh and Rtn. Ashutosh. The medicines were provided free of charge by Rtn. Nick and Rtn. Ashutosh. All the on-site arrangements were carried out by Rtn'anne Darshana and Rtn. Mahendra Thacker. On the sidelines of the camp, some of the Rtn' members made a visit to Bekrewadi for solar lights and water provisions project.

Images from Qawali night at Woodhouse Gymkhana on 22nd November 2011.

The Qawali night had fun loving Rotarians and Annes dressed in colourful attires wearing Nawabis, Pathanis and Jodhpuris. Fragrant gajras made it feel a typical Nawabi nite. The musicians gave a great performance. Between the hit numbers, there were anecdotes and jokes which made the evening more interesting. Quite a few from the audience showered the Quawals with money as sadka. The starters and drinks flowed as the music captured the crowd. It went on for almost two and a half hours. Dinner had veg and non-veg food and also included a barbeque counter which was appreciated by quite a few. The ones with a sweet tooth had plenty to relish including paan. The show went on till 11pm. All went home after enjoying an evening with a difference.

Annual Birthday Celebration – Not a Sanskrit idea - Contributed by Rtn. Yash Kale

November is so replete with Birthdays that I had wished to be a bit poetic and quote a sloka in Sanskrit equivalent to Happy Birthday, but could not readily locate anything apt. It would not have been difficult to quote some couplet from Bhartruhari which could describe the ravages of age to gratify that wish. But, readers would be fascinated to learn the information I collated when researching the origin of the idea of annual birthday celebrations.

This essentially Western or rather Mediterranean idea of an Annual Birthday Marker, appears to have no corresponding indigenous tradition except Sashtyabdhapurti (60 years), or even older birthdays, in ancient India. One wonders, if the custom did simply travel to us via Egyptians as it seems to have done, - to Arabia and China in the East; and via the Knights Templar to the west who introduced it into Europe.

The seed of the idea of birthdays and their commemoration captured on the Tarot Pictorial cards evocative of a set of symbols and intriguing, is supposedly linked to old mystery traditions and alchemy, and retained its mystical charisma connected to the Zodiac and the planets, such that, even a philosopher like Jung expounded the notion that the images held within the cards indicate archetypal personalities. The last of the cards of the Major Arcana in Tarot "The World: Number 21" signifies the coming of age when a person reaches the 21st birthday.

Then birthdays became associated with rites, rituals, customs and observances. Any anniversary acts as a marker in the circle of the year, and the birthday is the most personalized example of this, through celebration, and later reflection acknowledging the ageing process. The actual birth date was believed to have a bearing on the characteristics and prospects of a person because of the astrological sign and associated numerology. So, the phrase, 'Many happy returns' refers to the return of the sun into the planetary house which it occupied on the original day of birth.

The expression 'Happy Birthday' is relatively modern, unlike 'many happy returns'. The Birthday greeting song 'Happy Birthday to you...' with the person's name inserted in the third line after the word 'Dear' came only in 1935 when an American, Clayton F. Summy substituted the words of a popular song written in 1893 which had the words, 'Good morning to all' composed by US Educator Patty Smith Hill with music direction by her sister.

The Birthday tradition absorbed by the Chinese substituted noodles in place of cakes since these symbolise longevity more effectively, and in Japan, the 40th birthday is called Shoro to mean the 'beginning of old age', because this was the age at which Confucius ceased his travels, but later came the tradition of calling their 61st birthday Kanreki meaning 'new born'. To this day, they wear red Kimonos and hats on that occasion.

I would have finally liked to give the reasoning as to why it was not part of the ancient Indian tradition despite the Jayantis & Tulas that abound, but I will leave that for a future occasion only if our readers' interest survives perusal of the foregoing. So, currently, let us stop here and opt out of controversy.

30 SECOND SPEECH BY BRYAN DYSON – FORMER CEO OF COCA COLA – CONTRIBUTED BY RTN. CHANDRU THADANI

Imagine life is a game in which you are juggling some five balls in the air. They are Work, Family, Health, Friends and Spirit and you're keeping all of these in the air.

You will soon understand that work is the rubber ball. If you drop it, it will bounce back. But the other four balls - Family, Health, Friends and Spirit – are made of glass. If you drop one of these; they will be irrevocably scuffed, marked, nicked, damaged or even shattered. They will never be the same. You must understand that and strive for it.

Work efficiently during office hours and leave on time. Give the required time to your family, friends and have proper rest.

Our Club Programme from mid-December 2011 to mid-January 2012

- 17th December – Annual General Meeting
- 24th December – Mrs. Shruti Gulati
- 31st December – Fellowship Lunch at Birla Kreedha Kendra, Chowpatty. Sponsored by Rtn. Mahendra Thacker.
- 7th January – Fellowship by Rtn. Habil Khorakiwala at his residence “Casa Khorakiwala”. No regular meeting
- 14th January – Speaker to be announced shortly

Besides being a Rotaract member, she has organized, and participated in ENT camps in rural areas of Maharashtra and Gujarat and helped in organizing and delivering free lectures for public awareness at various places in Mumbai during Brain Awareness week

GODS' ROSEBUDS – Contributed by Rtn. Gulab Mewani

A new minister was walking with an older, more seasoned minister in the garden one day. Feeling a bit insecure about what God had for him to do, he was asking the older preacher for some advice. The older preacher walked up to a rosebush and handed the young preacher a rosebud and told him to open it without tearing off any petals. The young preacher looked in disbelief at the older preacher and was trying to figure out what a rosebud could possibly have to do with his wanting to know the will of God for his life and ministry. But because of his great respect for the older preacher, he proceeded to try to unfold the rose, while keeping every petal intact. It wasn't long before he realized how impossible this was to do.

Noticing the younger preacher's inability to unfold the rosebud without tearing it, the older preacher began to recite the following poem...

*"It is only a tiny rosebud, A flower of God's design;
But I cannot unfold the petals With these clumsy hands of mine."*

*"The secret of unfolding flowers, Is not known to such as I.
GOD opens this flower so easily, But in my hands they die."*

"If I cannot unfold a rosebud, This flower of God's design, Then how can I have the wisdom, To unfold this life of mine?"

*"So I'll trust in God for leading, Each moment of my day.
I will look to God for guidance, In each step along the way."*

*"The path that lies before me, Only my Lord and Savior knows.
I'll trust God to unfold the moments, Just as He unfolds the rose."*

Editors Note: We must all learn in life to let GO .. And let GOD unfold our lives.

MANAGEMENT LESSONS – Contributed by PP Rtn. Sultan Fazalbhoy

LESSON 1

A junior manager, a senior manager and their boss are on their way to a meeting, On their way through a park, they come across a wonder lamp. They rub the lamp and a ghost appears. The ghost says. "Normally, one is granted three wishes but as you are three, I will allow one wish each."

So the eager senior manager shouted, "I want the first wish. I want to be in the Bahamas, on a fast boat and have no worries."... and PfuFFFF he was gone. Now, the junior manager could not keep quiet and shouted, "I want to be in Florida with beautiful girls plenty of food and cocktails."... and PfuFFFF he was also gone.

When his turn came, the boss calmly said." I want these two idiots back in the office after lunch at 12:35 p.m.!"

LESSON – "ALWAYS ALLOW THE BOSS TO SPEAK FIRST."

Standing in front of a shredder with a piece of paper in his hand, "Listen", said the CEO, "this is a very sensitive and important document, and my secretary has left for the day. Can you make this thing work?"

"Certainly," said the young executive. He turned the machine on, inserted the paper, and pressed the start button. "Excellent, excellent!" said the CEO as his paper disappeared inside the shredder machine. "I just need one copy."

LESSON – "NEVER, NEVER ASSUME THAT YOUR BOSS KNOWS EVERYTHING."

LESSON 3

There were 4 guys, a Russian, a German, an American and a French, who found this small genie bottle. When they rubbed the bottle, a genie appeared. Thankful that the 4 guys had released him out of the bottle, He said, "Next to you all are 4 swimming pools, I will give each of you a wish. When you run towards the pool and jump, you should wish what you want the pool of water to become, and then your wish will come true."

The French wanted to start. He ran towards the pool, jumped and shouted, "WINE." The pool immediately changed into a pool of wine. The Frenchman was so happy swimming and drinking from the pool. Next is the Russian's turn, he did the same and shouted, "VODKA" and immersed himself into a pool of Vodka. The German was next and he humped and shouted, "BEER". He was so contented with his beer pool.

The last turn is of the American. He is running towards the pool, when suddenly he steps on a banana peel. He slipped towards the pool and shots. "SHIT....,"

LESSON – "THINK TWICE BEFORE YOU SAY SOMETHING, BECAUSE SOMETIMES ACCIDENTS DO HAPPEN."

EVERYBODY WAS SURE – Contributed by the Editor

One day at office, there was an important job to be done and Everybody was sure Somebody would do it. Anybody could have done it, but Nobody did it.

Somebody got angry about that because it was Everybody's job. Everybody thought Anybody could do it, but Nobody realized that Everybody would not do it.

It ended up that Everybody blamed Somebody when Nobody did what Anybody could have done

DON'T QUIT.. KEEP PLAYING"– Contributed by the Editor

Once a mother took her young son to a concert of a famous pianist. The objective of the attendance was to encourage her young son's progress on the piano. After they were seated at the concert, the mother spotted a friend in the audience and walked down the aisle to greet her. Seizing the opportunity to explore the wonders of the concert hall, the little boy rose and explored his way through a door that was marked "NO ADMITTANCE." When the house lights dimmed and the concert was about to begin, the mother returned to her seat and discovered that the child was missing.

Suddenly, the curtains parted and spotlights focused on the impressive Steinway on stage. In horror, the mother saw her little boy sitting at the keyboard, innocently picking out "Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star." At that moment, the great piano master made his entrance, quickly moved to the piano, and whispered in the boy's ear, "Don't quit. Keep playing."

Then leaning over, the pianist reached down with his left hand and began filling in a bass part. Soon his right arm reached around to the other side of the child and he added a running obbligato (i.e. an indispensable part of a musical performance). Together, the old master and the young boy transformed a frightening situation into a wonderfully creative experience. The audience was mesmerized.

That's the way it is in life. What we can accomplish on our own is hardly noteworthy. We try our best, but the results aren't exactly graceful flowing music. But when we trust in the hands of a Greater Power, our life's work truly can be beautiful. So, the next time you set out to accomplish great feats, listen carefully. You can hear the voice of the Master, whispering in your ear, "Don't quit. Keep playing."

SOME LEADERSHIP THOUGHTS (Source – Leadership Wisdom by Robin Sharma)

1. Without trust, there is no commitment. And without commitment, there's no company.
2. If you are patient in one moment of anger, you will avoid a hundred days of sorrow.
3. The funeral pyre burns the dead while worry burns the living.
4. The real secret to getting things done is knowing what things need to remain undone.
5. Self-discipline is the DNA of visionary leadership.
6. The greatest irony of leadership is that the more you give, the more you get.
7. Successful leaders surrender to change and in doing so, use it to their advantage.
8. Stop spending a lot of time focussing on success of others and start focussing on your own vision.
9. Leadership is about freeing people's strengths.
10. What makes greatness is beginning something that does not end with you.

FROM THE EDITORS DESK

My dear RCBN family,

As the year 2011 draws to a close and a new calendar year 2012 beckons us, I want to take this opportunity to wish each of you and your families a happy, peaceful and prosperous 2012. This month – I want to relate three thoughts that we are all aware of but rarely put into practice.

The first thought - There are two days in every week about which we should not worry, two days which should be kept free from fear and apprehension. One of these days is Yesterday with all its mistakes and cares, its faults and blunders, its aches and pains. Yesterday has passed forever beyond our control. All the money in the world cannot bring back Yesterday. We cannot undo a single act we performed; we cannot erase a single word we said. Yesterday is gone forever. The other day we should not worry about is Tomorrow with all its possible adversities, its burdens, its large promise and its poor performance;

Tomorrow is also beyond our immediate control. Tomorrow's sun will rise, either in splendour or behind a mask of clouds, but it will rise. Until it does, we have no stake in Tomorrow, for it is yet to be born. This leaves only one day, Today. Any person can fight the battle of just one day. It is when you and I add the burdens of those two awful eternities Yesterday and Tomorrow that we break down. What drives a person mad is the remorse or bitterness of something which happened Yesterday and the dread of what Tomorrow may bring. Let us, therefore, Live but one day at a time.

The second thought is through a short story – Once in Standard IV of J B Petit School, the students were learning of the Seven Wonders of the world. Towards the end of the class, the teacher asked the students to list the seven wonders. Most students turned in their answers correctly stating the seven wonders including The Taj Mahal, The Grand Canyon, and China's Great Wall amongst others. The teacher then realised, that one of the students, a quiet girl, had not turned in her paper as yet. She asked the girl if she was having trouble with her list and the girl replied, "Yes, a little. I couldn't quite make up my mind because there were so many." The teacher said, "Well, tell us what you have, and maybe we can help." The girl then read, "I think the Seven Wonders of the World are : to touch, to taste, to see, to hear, to feel, to laugh and to love. The entire class had pin drop silence. The thought is that in life the things we overlook as simple and ordinary are often the most wonderful - and we don't have to travel anywhere special to experience them. So let us all enjoy the gifts that we have!

This final thought – a human being is like a house with three rooms – your mind, your body and your spirit. To live fully, you must fill these rooms daily with sunlight and fresh air.

Till next month, Merry Christmas to all and lets ring in a great 2012.

Akshay
